TITLE GUARANTEE COMPANY.

Corporation Formed for the Purpose of Insuring Real Estate Titles. The latter part of this week, or the early part of next week, articles of association for a title guarantee company, of Indianapolis, will be filed with the Secretary of State. This company, which is to have a capital stock of $200,000, includes among its stock subscribers some of the most prominent business men in the city. It will guarantee titles to real estate, and also make loans. The corporate title of the company will be the Elliott-Butler Abstract Title Insurance and Loan Company. The company has secured an option on the abstract books of Elliott & Butler, these books being considered the best set of abstract books in the city, or, indeed, the State. Among the stockholders are John J. Cooper, $20,000; Jackson Landers, $18,000; John Pickens,

$10,000; F. A. Maus, $10,000; V. M. Backus, $5,000; W. F. Churchman, $5,000; Henry W. Piel, $5,000; George H. McCaslin, $2,000; George B. Elliott, $2,000; George F. Miller, E. M. Johnson, C. E. Coffin, J. S. Cruse, I. N. Walker, E. S. Folsom, A. J. Treat, James Johnson, H. G. Johnson, W. E. Milier, F. S. Hines, H. B. Fatout and others. The two trust companies will also take stock in the new company. The need of a company to guarantee titles has been discussed in Indianapolis for over a year, but heresofore there has been no successful attempt to organize one. It was necessary to first obtain a complete set of abstract books, and these documents

see very valuable property, as they repre-sent almost the life-time work of an abstracter of titles. Mr. Taylor Elliott will be the manager of the new company, and it is said that the price to be paid for the books of the firm is much in excess of $50,000. Mr. Elliott has been in the abstract business in Indianapolis during the past twenty-seven years. The books of the firm show the complete chain of titles of Marion county property back to the time of government grants. Mr. Elliott will also have stock in the company. Nearly all of the leading real-estate men of the city will be stockholders. Title guarantee companies have been organized in many of the large cities of the country, and they have been found to be very profitable to the stockholders. The companies, of course, only guarantee a title after a careful examination of it and after after a careful examination of it and after having a lawyer employed by the company pass upon it. In this way the percentage of loss to a company is reduced to a very small figure. A purchaser of a piece of property can feel safe in his new possession when he has its title guaranteed by a strong company. The exact plan of guaranteeing by the Indianapolis company has not yet been definitely decided upon, although two kinds of policies will be issued. One of these will be in the be issued. One of these will be in the shape of a guarantee to an owner and the The last-mentioned policy will not cost as much as the other, as the risk to the com-The Title Guarantee and Trust Company of New York expended $400,000 during four years in preparing the abstract books for the company. Every instrument filed against a piece of property in New York city or involving its title has been copied by the company, and indexed. This made the records of the company more reliable than those in the recorder's office, where there were a number of mistakes in indexing the deeds and other instruments. The fees charged by the company are small and with a guarantee are less than the usual charge made by an abstract firm. After a guarantee is given and a suit is brought against the property owner questioning the title of the property, the company assumes all the expenses of the litigation and pays any loss that may be sustained by the insured. This New York company began business in 1883, and that year had an income from examining titles of $60. The income for the third year was $14,910, and in 1892 the company's income was $621,605. In 1892 the company also made loans and sold mortgages involving transactions that amounted to over $18,000,000. The company loans moneys for the saving banks and trust and insurance companies. The Indianapolis company will be ready for business a short after the filing of ar-

A letter was received from the bank examiner stating that he had complied with the department's request for the May 4 state-ment. If the report was sent it has become lost or stolen en route, as the department has seen no trace of it. Mr. Packard was notified yesterday to send a duplicate copy at once.

NEW RAILROAD COMPANY.

Benton Harbor & Southeastern Incorporates

-Other New Enterprises, The Benton Harbor & Southeastern Railroad Company has filed articles of association with the Secretary of State. The capital stock is $30,000, and Milton Mercer is president, Asron Zook secretary, and Hervey V. Mercer treasurer. The proposed road is thirty miles in length, and is to extend from Nappanee, in Elkhart county, through Elkhart and St. Joseph counties, to a point on the Indiana and Michigan State line, in the southeastern corner of Berrien county, Michigan.

The Fortville Land and Improvement Company has also filed articles of incorporation with a capital stock of $25,000. Thomas Hanna is president and attorney, Simon T. Yancy vice president, William F. Crawford secretary and John F. Barrett

Other organizations filing articles of in-corporation were the Riddell Grocery Company, of South Bend, with a capital stock of $50,000 and the Castle Hall Building Association, of Lebanon, with a capital stock of $25,000.

IT DISGUSTED THE CROWD.

Boxing Match Between Wrade and Fennerman Too Friendly to Suit Speciators.

Mozart Hall was comfortably filled last night, the occasion being a benefit entertainment given for George Gaylor, a boxing instructor, who has been running a school in the city ing the winter. The first events were between colored men with chalked gloves, and while they were not much as exhibitions of sparring, they kept the crowd in a good humor while waiting for the principal event, which consisted of a six-round match for points between Cris Wrade and Gus Fennerman. It was strictly a friendly contest and neither man struck a blow that did any damage. It was so light that the crowd expressed its disgust, having come to see some lively work done. Neither man got much the best of it, and it was declared a draw.

Miss Lewis is better fitted in physique, voice and manner for comedy and Miss Lynch for the hea-vier roles. Particularly well did Miss Lynch give Stebbins's "Eve of Marriage." Bishop Knickerbacker presided and made the invocation, and, in a few remarks, presented the graduates with their diplomas and each of them a gold medal, the gift of and each of them a gold medal, the gift of Mrs. Prunk, and pronounced the benediction. The address of the evening was made by Mr. Henry Warram, a gifted young orator, new to an Indianapolis audience. Musically Mrs. Prunk was assisted by Miss Sadie Walker, who sang beautifully a sweet ballad, and was recalled and sang a luliaby. Mr. M. H. Spades played Schumann's "Schlummerhed," and Mr. Edward Nell sang Neidlinger's "Boat Song" well. Miss Lewis, Miss Lynch and Miss Walker received many beautiful flowers. Walker received many beautiful flowers.

CITY NEWS NOTES.

Dr. Sluss, of the City Dispensary, was called to the Big Four Shops yesterday to dress the hand of a machinist named Frank White, which was injured by being caught in one of the machines.

Louis Williams, a colored man, employed on the Circle-street improvement, was knocked down by a team, yesterday, and severely bruised in the back. He was attended by the City Dispensary physicians, and taken to his home on Blake street.

John Newman, an incorrigible youth, residing with his parents, on Drake street, was yesterday arrested by officer Corrigan, at the request of his mother, who desires that he be sent to Plainfield. Last week Johnnie was presented with a fine bicycle by his aunt, but the unappreciative little imp speedily disposed of the wheel for $5 and spent the money in a trip to the world's Nick Connelly, a nine-years-old white boy, and Thomas Valentine, a colored youth of the same age, were found by ser-geant Lowe, yesterday afternoon, bat-tering each other's faces, near the Park Theater. Both were arrested, but the Connelly boy indulged in such howls of fright when locked up that the officers were glad to send him to his home, in the rear of the Maus brewery.

the Citizens' Company's Offer.

'Tis Said He Has Determined to Accept

PRESIDENT THOS. TAGGART

Conference with McDonald at Fort Wayne-Conflicting Statements of Officials-Michael Burns's Change.

The directors of the Citizens' Street-railroad Company will probably meet in this city within the next few days to consider such business as may come before them. What that business is none of the resident directors are able or will say, except that it is in relation to the mechanical part of the management of the road, and settling one or two questions in reference to the extensions which are now in the process of being

President Mason was asked yesterday when the meeting was to be held. He said that he did not know, but that it would probably be within a few days. When he was asked what business was to be transacted he said he knew of none except routine matters. He said that he knew of no change that was to be made in the directory, or in any of the company's officers, or any such thing contemplated.

Sterling R. Holt and Thomas Taggart returned yesterday from a visit to Fort Wayne, where it is supposed they went to have a conference with R. T. McDonald in reference to the appointment of the latter as president of the road. Mr. Taggart smiled that enigmatical smile of his when questioned about it and said that he had nothing to say. Mr. Holt was seen last night and was questioned about it. He said: "Yes, Mr. Taggart and myself went up to Fort Wayne, but it was not altogether on street car business. We saw Mr. Mc-Donald and had a talk with him, but it was not that which took us there."
"Will Mr. McDonald and the rest of the stockholders be in the city Thursday?" was

"Mr. McDonald has not notified me that he will be here, and I do not think that he "What is the immediate object of the meeting!" "O there are several things that need looking after. The men have large enough interests in this city to bring them here at most any time, and I know of nothing spe-"Is it in reference to any changes in the company's officers or in the directory?"

"Not that I know of." "Mr. Holt, it is stated on the one hand by Mr. Mason, that he will not retire from the presidency, and on the other there are rumors and statements without number to the effect that there will be such a change, and that either yourself or Mr. Taggart will be made the president. Which

"I'll tell you what I think. I believe there is a conspiracy among you newspaper men to appoint two or three presidents for this company, and that you just keep it going to have something to write about." "Still, is it not true that one or the other is being played fast and loose with, else there would not be such a conflict of statements between them? Mr. McDonald himself says that the presidency was offered to Mr. Taggart, and the last-named has not denied it."

"Has he ever said that he was offered it?"
"He most certainly has." "Well, I've nothing to say to that. I simply want to say that the company will never get a man who will work harder for "Is there sufficient business of a general nature to bring the directors to this city without considering the matters which have been spoken of?

"There most certainly is. I know that."
"Then you do not think that there will be any change made in the company's management?" "I want to say one thing to you, and that is that I will never be its president. I could not afford to take it." Further than that Mr. Holt would not talk, nor would be express himself about the acceptance of the presidency by Mr. Taggart. There is no one who doubts for a moment the sincerity of Mr. Mason when he says that there will be no change in the position which he occupies; still at the same time there is as little doubt that it has been offered to Mr. Taggart, and it is given out that he has accepted it. That is what he went to Fort Wayne for. He saw Mr. McDonald, and gave him his final answer, it is believed, accepting the position. Mr. McDonald may be in the city today and certainly will be within a few days, This meeting was slated for several days ago, but was called off for the reason of the sickness of Mr. Verner in his home at Pitteburg. The filling of a number of the minor positions of the company will probably also be disposed of during the meeting, as well as some matters relating to the extensions which are being made.

Telegrams received by various business men within the past few days leave little room to doubt either that at this meeting there will be a complete reorganization of the directory, or that it is the intention to greatly enlarge it.
Street Commissioner Burns handed in his resignation to the Board of Public Works yesterday, and will accept the position of assistant superintendent of the Citizens' Street-tailway Company, commencing work this morning. It was announced some time ago that he would do so, and verification of the report has been withheld for the reason that the company did not wish to create any dissatisfaction among any of its employes who might think that his going with the company would affect their positions. Mr. Lewis, who was holding the position which Mr. Burns will accept, received his dismissal at the hands of the company yesterday. It came without any warning, and he is feeling very sore over the treat-

The board has not yet selected a man to succeed Mr. Burns. There are two candidates for the position, one of them being Martin Murphy, who is now president of the Council and is in the undertaking business, and the other is Bernard McGettigan. President Conduitt said yesterday that the board had not decided upon whom it should appoint, but that it would meet within a day or so to do so.

HUMPHREY-HAY.

A very pretty wedding was observed last evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Hay, No. 410 Ash street. The bride was their youngest daughter, Miss Katherine Merrill Hay, and the groom Mr. Wirt E. Humphrey, of Chicago. Only the relatives and most intimate friends were bidden to the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. J. A. Kondthaler, of the Tabernacle Church. As the bridal party entered the Church. As the bridal party entered the parlor, the wedding march was sung by Miss Julia Cobb. accompanied on the guitar by Mr. William Hay. The party included the bride and groom, and their attendants, Miss Flora Hay, the bride's sister, and Dr. U. I. Poyer of Chicago, Miss Margaret Brown of Seymour and Mr. Charles Moores. They were preceded by little May Durbin, who, dressed in dainty white swiss, carried a feghorn hat filled with white carnations. The party stood in the bay window, which was party stood in the bay window, which was draped in white and decorated with palms smilax and ferns. White roses and carnstions were also used throughout the rooms The bride wore a handsome gown of cream white crepe, trimmed with embroidered chiffon. A veil enveloped her figure, and she carried a bouquet of Bride roses. Miss Hay wore a gown of light blue silk carried Catherine Mermet roses, and Miss Brown wore a white lace gown over white silk and carried Mermet roses. After the congratulations refreshments were served. The central table was adorned entirely in white and green with artistic effect. Dr. and Mrs. Hay, and Miss Mollie Hay, and Hon, and Mrs. John Humphrey, of Chicago, the groom's parents, received the guests, and Mrs. Henry C. Durbin, Mrs. Frank Morrison and Miss Julia Graydon assisted.
